EMPG Exercise Credit

Course Description

This seminar will be held on three different dates (all listed above) to give more opportunities for participation, it is only necessary to participate in one to receive credit. A Distribution Management Plan establishes strategies, functional plans, and tactical guidance for State and local logistical response operations. The plan covers staging sites, operations, and logistical support including services, personnel, transportation of resources to the point of need, commodity points of distribution (C-PODs), inventory management, resource sourcing, fuel management, and demobilization. The plan should address all components of distribution management from defining requirements to demobilization and inventorying resources from small incidents to catastrophic events. Each participant will have the opportunity to complete deliverables during class in the survey tool.
