Course Description:
The 16-hour course will train management and planning personnel from within a jurisdiction or organization to prevent, manage, and assess the threat and vulnerabilities of freight transportation systems. The course will train participants to recognize and prioritize the importance of facility and conveyance hardening in regards to the specific dangers associated with the transportation of freight. Participants will learn management/planning tools to counter IED operations and evacuations where freight transportation creates the potential for catastrophic events when combined with materials being shipped including hazardous materials. Participants will also be trained to utilize the NIMS/NRF to prioritize organizational immediate actions and response operations. There will be special emphasis on National Special Security Events (NSSE’s).

Student Criteria:
Participants should be management level personnel representing jurisdictions such as states, counties, or cities including public services agencies, fire services, law enforcement, emergency medical services, emergency planning, public health, hazardous materials response, or the private industry.
